5 TAKEAWAYS FROM THE COMMANDERS' 2025 SCHEDULE

BY ZACH SELBY

THE WASHINGTON COMMANDERS' 2025 SCHEDULE HAS OFFICIALLY BEEN RELEASED BY THE NFL. HERE ARE FIVE TAKEAWAYS FROM THIS YEAR'S SLATE OF GAMES.

1 A HOME OPENER.

Jayden Daniels' second season will begin in front of thousands of Commanders fans at Northwest Stadium for the fifth time since the 2020 season.

Washington will begin the season by hosting the New York Giants, who will likely be led by veteran quarterback Russell Wilson. The Commanders have fared well in their home openers over the last five seasons, as they have gone 4-1 in such matchups. They have not started a season against the Giants since 2011 -- a game they won 28-14 thanks in part to 305 yards and two touchdowns from Rex Grossman.

The Giants will come to Northwest Stadium looking to get a win over Washington after being swept by the team in 2024. It will be the first time Washington will have to deal with rookie pass-rusher Abdul Carter, who was drafted No. 3 overall to join a Giants defensive front that already had Brian Burns, Kayvon Thibodeaux and Dexter Lawrence.

The Giants will also have a reworked quarterback room. With Daniel Jones gone, the team signed Wilson to be their next starter. However, the Giants also drafted Jaxon Dart in the first round believing he could be their future at the position. Regardless of who they start under center, Malik Nabers is still poised to be a threat for Washington's new secondary, which now includes second-round pick Trey Amos.

2 MORE ATTENTION FROM THE NATIONAL SPOTLIGHT.

Although the Commanders ended the 2024 season with more primetime games than originally intended, there's no doubt the team's success has garnered more national attention.

This year, the Commanders will start the season with at least five primetime games, including a Thursday night football game in Week 2 against the Green Bay Packers. Some of Washington's most marquee matchups will be played in front of a nationally-televised audience, such as a Week 8 game against Patrick Mahomes and the Kansas City Chiefs as well as a rematch with the Chicago Bears on Monday Night Football. There's also a stretch from Weeks 6-9 where the Commanders will play a primetime game three times in four weeks.

But Washington has also been given other high-profile games that are not considered to be in primetime. They will be playing the Miami Dolphins in the first-ever NFL game in Spain on Nov.16. About a month later, they will host the Dallas Cowboys on Christmas Day, which will be aired on Netflix. It's the first time the Commanders will play on Christmas and the first for the Cowboys since 2010.

Daniels has become one of the league's most exciting players, and the entire league wants a piece of him.

3 A BUSIER TRAVEL SCHEDULE.

Jayden Daniels' second season will begin in front of thousands of Commanders fans at Northwest Stadium for the fifth time since the 2020 season.

Washington will begin the season by hosting the New York Giants, who will likely be led by veteran quarterback Russell Wilson. The Commanders have fared well in their home openers over the last five seasons, as they have gone 4-1 in such matchups. 4 FOUR STRAIGHT DIVISION GAMES TO CLOSE OUT THE SEASON.

Division games are always important, but the NFL has tried to increase their significance by scheduling more of them near the end of the season to up the drama for teams in the playoff hunt.

That will be the case for the Commanders in 2025, as they will close out the season with four straight NFC matchups. It is reminiscent of the 2021 season, when they had five straight division games to finish the year. Washington entered that stretch with a 6-6 record and a chance at making the playoffs but lost four straight and missed the postseason.

This year, the Commanders will start their NFC East gauntlet with a road game against the Giants before playing the Philadelphia Eagles on Saturday at an undetermined time and the game against the Cowboys on Christmas. Adding to that challenge will be the time between games; the Commanders will play three matchups in the span of 12 days. They should benefit from the Week 12 bye, but it's still a physical toll the coaches and players will need to prepare for.

That leaves us with the season finale, which will be against...

5 A CHALLENGING SEASON FINALE.

...the Eagles, last year's Super Bowl champions, who dismantled the Chiefs in the championship matchup.

Not to put any assumptions on what could happen in January of 2026, but there's a chance that game could be meaningful, not just for playoff seeding but also for the division crown. While the Eagles won the NFC East in 2024, the Commanders were firmly in second place with a 12-5 record. Both regular-season games between the two teams were competitive, and both squads have found ways to improve their rosters. If the division could be decided in that game, then it could be flexed into another primetime slot.

Regardless of the date and time, neither of which has been decided at this point, the Commanders will face a difficult environment in the season finale. They will be playing in Philadelphia, which is always a challenging venue for the Eagles' opponents thanks to its fan base.

The last time the Commanders played the Eagles on the road was for the NFC Championship, which resulted in a 55-23 win for the eventual Super Bowl champions.

ADAM PETERS

GENERAL MANAGER

Adam Peters enters his second season as general manager of the Washington Commanders. In his current role, Peters oversees all aspects of the organizations football operations.

In 2024, Peters built a roster that finished 12-5, which was the best regular season record in franchise history since 1991. The team also won their first playoff game since 2005 and advanced to the NFC Championship game for the first time since 1991.

Peters became the first GM in franchise history to win 12-plus games in their first season with the franchise. The team improved their win total by +8 from 2023 to 2024, which marked the highest single year improvement in the NFL since the 2019 San Francisco 49ers improved their win total by +9. Peters was the 49ers vice president of player personnel during that 2019 season.

Peters' first draft pick in his role as general manager was selecting QB Jayden Daniels No. 2 overall. Daniels won the AP Offensive Rookie of the Year award, becoming the fifth player in franchise history and the fourth offensive player in franchise history to earn the AP NFL Rookie of the Year honor. Daniels set an NFL record for most rushing yards by a rookie quarterback and threw for the most postseason passing yards by a rookie in NFL history.

In Peters first season as general manager, Washington had four players named to the AP All-Pro team and had three players named to the Pro Bowl. Washington's four All-Pro selections were the most in franchise history since 1991. Free agent acquisitions LB Bobby Wagner and LB Frankie Luvu were both named All-Pro, marking the first time in franchise history that Washington had multiple linebackers named All-Pro in a single season. QB Jayden Daniels, WR Terry McLaurin and LB Bobby Wagner were all named Pro Bowlers. It was the first time since 1991 that Washington had a quarterback and wide receiver named to the Pro Bowl in a single season.

Peters joined the Commanders after serving a variety of senior leadership roles with the San Francisco 49ers, most recently as the team's assistant general manager from 2021-23. Prior to being named assistant general manager, Peters spent four seasons with the 49ers as the vice president of player personnel.

During his time with San Francisco, Peters helped the 49ers construct a top roster in the NFL through the draft, free agency and via trades. Through the NFL Draft, Peters was part of a 49ers leadership team that selected the likes of TE George Kittle, LB Fred Warner, WR Deebo Samuel, T Mike McGlinchey, DT Javon Kinlaw, WR Brandon Aiyuk, and 2019 Associated Press Defensive Rookie of the Year DL Nick Bosa, among others. Through free agency, the team was equally effective, adding key contributors such as CB Richard Sherman, FB Kyle Juszczyk and K Robbie Gould. They also acquired All-Pro RB Christian McCaffrey and T Trent Williams via trade.

In 2023, the 49ers placed a league-high nine total players in the Pro Bowl. Following the conclusion of the 2023 regular season, San Francisco had five players named AP First Team All-Pros, which was the most by a single team in the NFL.

Peters joined the 49ers after spending eight seasons (2009-16) with the Denver Broncos. In 2016, Peters was named the Broncos' director of college scouting after spending two seasons as the team's assistant director of college scouting from 2014-15. Peters spent three years as a national scout (2011-13) after originally joining the Broncos as a regional scout in 2009.

In Denver, Peters helped the team acquire 27 players through the draft and college free agency that were vital members of the Super Bowl 50 roster.

Prior to his time in Denver, Peters spent six seasons (2003-08) with the New England Patriots. In his first two seasons as a scouting assistant in New England, Peters was a part of two Super Bowl championship teams in 2003 and 2004. In 2005, Peters handled pro scouting responsibilities for the team before serving as an area scout in his final three seasons with New England.

Prior to his career in the NFL, Peters spent the 2002 season with UCLA, where he served as a football operations graduate assistant after playing defensive end for the Bruins from 1999-2001. He transferred to UCLA from West Valley Junior College where he played tight end for two seasons (1997-98) and earned all-conference honors.

A Cupertino, Calif. native, Peters attended Monta Vista High School where he was a two-sport standout in football and baseball during his prep career.

Peters is married to his wife, Jennifer, and they have two daughters.

LANCE NEWMARK

ASSISTANT GENERAL MANAGER

Lance Newmark enters his second season as assistant general manager of the Washington Commanders. Newmark reports directly to Commanders General Manager Adam Peters and oversees Washington's personnel and scouting departments.

Newmark joined the Commanders with 28 years of NFL experience, including 26 seasons with the Detroit Lions. He held the role of senior director of player personnel for Detroit and helped oversee both the college and pro scouting operations. He also assisted with the weekly management of the Lions roster and assisted Lions Executive Vice President and General Manager Brad Holmes with the implementation of Holmes' scouting vision throughout the entire personnel department.

Newmark previously oversaw the day-to-day operations of the Lions Football Information and Football Technology departments and served as the liaison between these departments and the Lions Player Personnel function. He played influential roles in both the Lions NFL Draft and NFL Free Agency period processes.

Prior to being named the senior director of player personnel in 2022, Newmark served as the director of player personnel for five seasons (2016-21). He also held the roles of director of college scouting (2015-16), assistant director of college scouting (2008-14), national scout (2005-07) and area scout (1999-2004). His first season in Detroit was in 1998 where he assisted the player personnel department with various scouting assignments during the season and in preparation for the 1999 NFL Draft.

Newmark got his start in the NFL with the San Diego Chargers where he spent two seasons as a staff assistant. In San Diego, Newmark worked under legendary General Manager Bobby Beathard who is a member of both the Pro Football Hall of Fame and Washington Ring of Fame.

A La Mesa, Calif. native, Newmark played wide receiver for two years at San Diego Mesa College, before transferring to the University of San Diego for one year. He holds a degree in social sciences.

Newmark is married to his wife, Jennifer, and they have three daughters.

BRANDON SOSNA

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT OF FOOTBALL OPERATIONS

Brandon Sosna enters his second season as senior vice president of football operations. In his role as senior vice president of football operations, Sosna is the club's lead contract negotiator, oversees a number of football operations departments, including analytics, health and performance and football administration and is one of the club's liaisons to the business operation. He also plays a major role in strategy around roster construction, the salary cap and the CBA. Sosna reports directly to Washington Commanders General Manager Adam Peters.

Sosna joined the Commanders after working for the Detroit Lions the previous two years. In Detroit he held the role of senior director of football administration. In that role, Sosna oversaw Detroit's strategic planning and management of the salary cap. He was also the club's chief contract negotiator. Sosna was named to The Athletic's 40 Under 40 list in 2024 for his role in shaping the Commanders' roster.

Sosna joined the Lions after serving as the executive senior associate athletic director/chief of staff at the University of Southern California from 2019-21. During Sosna's time at USC, he managed the day-to-day operations across the entire athletics program, oversaw the department's external communications and revenue generating teams, provided administrative oversight of the football program, and served as the lead contract negotiator for the athletics department. Sosna helped modernize the USC athletics department and was credited as the "architect" of the hiring process for USC Head Coach Lincoln Riley in the 2022 offseason. He also played a key role in the university's move to the Big Ten Conference.

Prior to his three years with USC, Sosna had two stints at the University of Cincinnati (2013-17, 2019). He worked for the school in various capacities and in 2016 was named the athletic department's chief of staff. As the program's chief of staff he played a key role in the hiring of Head Coach Luke Fickell, who led Cincinnati to national prominence. Sosna returned to Cincinnati in 2019 as senior associate athletic director/chief revenue officer. Under his leadership, the athletics department set new records for attendance and ticket sales.

Sosna started his career in the NFL as a football administration intern with the Cleveland Browns from 2017-18 and was elevated to the role of salary cap and contract analyst in 2018.

A Cincinnati, Ohio native, Sosna graduated from the University of Pennsylvania with a bachelor's degree in political science.

Sosna was named to Forbes' "30 Under 30" list in 2020 and Sports Business Journal's "New Voices Under 30" list in 2019. He also received the Front Office Sports Rising 25 Award in 2017.

DOUG WILLIAMS

SENIOR ADVISOR TO THE GENERAL MANAGER

Doug Williams is Senior Advisor to Washington Commanders general manager Adam Peters. In his role, Doug leverages his vast experience with the team as a player, ambassador, and executive to provide counsel on all matters pertaining to the establishment of a new, modern identity for the team.

Previously, Doug served as Washington's senior vice president of player development. In that role, one of the most celebrated athletes in franchise history helped lead and guide the efforts of the team's player development department.

Doug, a member of the 80 Greatest Washington players and franchise's Ring of Fame, played with the team from 1986-89 and led Washington to a Super Bowl XXII title, which was a 42-10 rout of the Denver Broncos. The first African-American quarterback to play in a Super Bowl, he completed 18-of-29 passes for 340 yards with four touchdown passes to earn Super Bowl XXII MVP honors.

Doug is a veteran of 21 NFL seasons, including nine as a player and 12 in scouting/personnel roles. He spent five seasons as Personnel Executive with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers from 2004-08 before being named the team's Director of Pro Personnel for the 2009 season.

Doug joined the Buccaneers' front office in 2004 following a successful tenure as head coach at his alma mater, Grambling State, and one of the most storied playing careers in league and team history. His responsibilities in Tampa included coordinating the scouting and recruiting of all NFL players, while also monitoring NFL transactions and overseeing player tryouts. In addition, he was in charge of Tampa Bay's evaluating efforts of all other professional football leagues, including the Canadian Football League.

A first-round pick by Tampa Bay in the 1978 NFL Draft (17th overall), he led the Buccaneers to the first three playoff appearances in team history. He propelled the team to three winning seasons (10-6 in 1979, 9-7 in 1981 and 5-4 in 1982). They were the only campaigns in franchise history with a winning record until more than 15 years later, in the 1997 season. He started 67 career games for the Buccaneers and was a two-time team MVP in 1980 and 1981. He ended his Tampa Bay career in 1982 as the all-time franchise leader in touchdown passes, passing yards, attempts and completions.

In 1986, Washington traded for Williams' rights following two seasons with the USFL's Oklahoma Outlaws. In his Super Bowl XXII MVP performance following the 1987 season, he set or tied several Super Bowl passing records, including most TD passes (four), most yards passing (340), longest pass completion (80 yards) and longest TD pass (80 yards).

In six seasons during his first tenure (1998-2003) at Grambling State, Doug brought one of the most storied programs in college football history back to prominence, compiling a 52-18 record as head coach after succeeding the legendary Eddie Robinson, who was at the helm for 57 years from 1941-97 and re-wrote the record books as the winningest coach in the history of college football with 408 career wins.

Williams led the Tigers to three consecutive Southwestern Athletic Conference titles from 2000-02, as they were named National Black College Champions during the same three-year span. He was also named SWAC Coach of the Year in each of those three seasons. Williams was a two-time finalist for The Sports Network Eddie Robinson (Division I-AA) National Coach of the Year. He rejoined the program for three seasons from 2011-13, including earning the SWAC title in his first season back in 2011.

Doug started his college head coaching career at Morehouse College in 1997. He also has previous NFL experience as a scout for the Jacksonville Jaguars in 1995 and as offensive coordinator for the Scottish Claymores of the World League in 1995 and tutoring running backs for Navy in 1994. He also excelled on the high school level as head coach and athletic director at Point Coupee H.S. in New Roads, La., in 1991. In 1993, he was head coach at Northeast H.S. in his hometown of Zachary, La., where he guided the team to a 13-1 record and the state semifinals, including a win over Peyton Manning's Isidore Newman squad in the 1993 state quarterfinals.

As Grambling's quarterback from 1974-77, he had a spectacular college career as he passed for more than 8,000 yards and 93 touchdowns, leading the Tigers to three Black College National Championships and two SWAC titles. He posted a 35-5 record as a starter and finished fourth in voting for the 1977 Heisman Trophy.

In 2005, Doug and Shack Harris established The Shack Harris & Doug Williams Foundation with the function of providing grants for after-school initiatives, leadership development, mentoring programs and minority higher education assistance for economically disadvantaged youth. In March of 2009, the foundation put on its first annual Washington Football Legends for Charity in Washington, D.C. In 2010, the foundation established the Black College Football Hall of Fame, which will move to its new home in Canton, Ohio in 2018.

After Super Bowl XLII, the NFL honored the 20th anniversary of his Super Bowl XXII victory as Williams was chosen to present the Lombardi Trophy to the New York Giants following their victory over the New England Patriots.

Doug and his wife, Raunda, have eight children: Ashley, Adrian, Carmeleta, Doug, Jr., Jasmine, Laura, Lee and Temessia.

MEET YOUR 2025 DRAFT CLASS

DRAFT 2025

BY ZACH SELBY

The Washington Commanders were tasked with improving a roster that went 12-5 during the 2024 regular season, and while their 2025 draft class is significantly smaller than the previous year, they believe they have five new players who will help improve the team this season and beyond.

Below is a list of every Washington pick in the 2025 NFL Draft.

JOSH CONERLY JR.

OT OREGON
PICK NO. 29

The Washington Commanders selected Oregon tackle Josh Conerly Jr. with the No. 29 overall pick in the 2025 NFL Draft.

Conerly, a former five-star recruit from Rainier Beach High School in Seattle, is a young player with the tools to be a prototypical starting tackle at some point in his career. At 6-foot-4 and 315 pounds, Conerly is a physical blocker in the run game who knows how to finish. In his first year as a starter, he posted a run-block grade of 66 on 317 running plays.

Where Conerly thrives the most, however, is as a pass-blocker. Back in 2023, he was part of an offensive line that allowed just five sacks all season. He allowed just one sack and two quarterback hits, which helped him post a 76.9 pass-blocking grade.

"He sees twists and blitzes developing and recovers with athleticism when beaten," wrote NFL.com analyst Lance Zierlein.

Conerly was even more effective in 2024. He allowed just one sack and five pressures -- nine fewer than he did in 2023. That sack came in Week 2 against Boise State. He kept quarterback Dillon Gabriel off the ground for the rest of the season, allowing only two quarterback hits.

The Commanders have been dedicated to protecting Jayden Daniels -- their No. 1 asset. They traded for left tackle Laremy Tunsil and drafted Brandon Coleman last season. Now, they add one of the top offensive linemen in this year's class.

TREY AMOS

CB OLE MISS
PICK NO. 61

The Washington Commanders selected Trey Amos with the No. 61 overall pick in the 2025 NFL Draft.

Amos (6-foot-1, 195 pounds) is a First Team All-SEC cornerback who led his team with 13 pass breakups. A five-year player who suited up for three squads, Amos recorded 122 tackles and three interceptions.

"Long press cornerback who proved he could make the jump from the Sun Belt to the SEC without a hitch," wrote NFL.com's Lance Zierlein. "Amos can disrupt the release and plays with good short-area movement in man coverage."

The Commanders needed to provide depth at cornerback aside from Marshon Lattimore and 2024 draft pick Mike Sainristil. Amos can fill that role on the outside, as he has quick feet and can play in press coverage. Amos stood out in the draft prospect with a solid combine performance, recording a 4.43 40-yard dash, 32.5-inch vertical and 10-foot-6 broad jump.

A multi-sport athlete and track and field state champion out of Catholic-New Iberia, Amos was the No. 63 player in Louisiana. He played three seasons at Louisiana-Lafayette, recording 49 tackles and 13 pass breakups for the Ragin' Cajuns, and spent a season at Alabama before transferring to Ole Miss, where he hit career-highs in several categories.

Amos was a standout at Ole Miss, ranking fifth on the team with 50 tackles. He also excelled at preventing explosive passes, as he allowed a sub-19 percent completion rate on throws with at least 20 air yards, according to Pro Football Focus. In 2024, Amos had a 51% allowed completion rate with a 54.5 passer rating allowed.

JAYLIN LANE

WR VIRGINIA TECH
PICK NO. 128

The Washington Commanders selected wide receiver Jaylin Lane with the No. 128 overall pick in the 2025 NFL Draft.

Lane (5-foot-10, 196 pounds) was a five-year player at the college level and spent time at MTSU and Virginia Tech. Over the course of his career, Lane amassed 2,532 yards and 18 touchdowns.

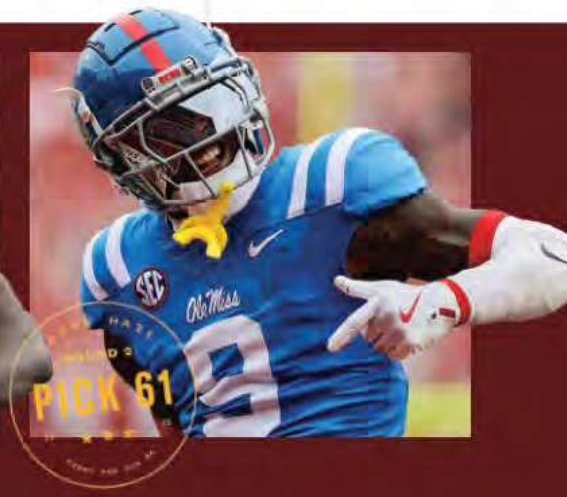
"Semi-versatile slot option with legitimate long speed and talent to add yardage with the ball in his hands," wrote NFL.com's Lance Zeirlein. "Lane can stretch defenses from the slot with his build-up speed and is a viable option in catch-and-run packages near the line of scrimmage."

A three-star recruit out of South Carolina, Lane committed to MTSU after breaking every receiving record at Clover High School. He ended his three-year stint with the Blue Raiders by being a Second Team All-C-USA selection for leading the team with 69 receptions for 940 yards and five touchdowns.

Lane was an explosive athlete at the combine with a 4.34 40-yard dash to go with a 40-inch vertical and 11-foot broad jump. All three numbers were among the best for a wide receiver.

Lane also has five years of experience as a punt returner with 733 career yards on 67 returns with two touchdowns.

WELCOME TO THE DMV



KAIN MEDRANO

LB UCLA
PICK NO. 205

The Washington Commanders drafted UCLA linebacker Kain Medrano with the No. 205 overall pick in the 2025 NFL Draft.

Medrano (6-foot-3, 222 pounds) was a Third Team All-Big Ten selection who led his team with three forced fumbles. He also filled up the stat sheet for the Bruins in 2024 with 72 tackles, 1.5 sacks and two interceptions with one returned for a touchdown.

For his career, Medrano recorded 194 tackles with 10 pass breakups, five forced fumbles and three interceptions.

"Sixth-year senior and team captain with two years of starting experience," wrote NFL.com's Lance Zierlein. "Medrano's long, lean frame is more reminiscent of a strong safety than a linebacker."

Medrano, a three-star recruit out of Pueblo East High School, was the No. 10 recruit in Colorado as a receiver. He made the switch linebacker but didn't get significant action until the 2020 season. Medrano ended his career with 25 starts and was named a team captain in 2024.

Medrano told reporters that he is ready to learn from linebackers coach Ken Norton Jr. as well as Bobby Wagner and Frankie Luvu. While Medrano's role will mostly come on special teams, he's excited to add depth to Washington's defense.

JACORY CROSKEY-MERRITT

RB ARIZONA
PICK NO. 245

The Washington Commanders have drafted Arizona running back Jacory Croskey-Merritt with the No. 245 overall pick in the 2025 NFL Draft.

Croskey-Merritt (5-foot-10, 206 pounds) spent four years at Alabama State before transferring to New Mexico and Arizona. Croskey-Merritt made a solid impression at the East-West Shrine Bowl after appearing in just one game in 2024 because of eligibility issues. In 2023, Croskey-Merritt rushed for 1,190 yards and 17 touchdowns on 189 carries.

"Eligibility issues sidelined Croskey-Merritt for all but one game in 2024, but his skills were on full display at the East-West Shrine Bowl in January," wrote NFL.com's Lance Zierlein. "He's a quick processor with adequate size and impressive cut quickness to find yards in a crowded workspace. He has one-cut talent and the ability to break runs sharply across the grain when necessary. He finishes runs with purpose, too."

DAN QUINN

HEAD COACH

Dan Quinn enters his second season as Washington's head coach after being hired as the 31st head coach in franchise history on February 3, 2024.

In 2024, Quinn led a Commanders team that finished the regular season 12-5 which was the most wins in a single season in franchise history since 1991. Under Quinn's leadership the team advanced to their first NFC Championship game since 1991. Washington improved their win margin by +8 which was the largest win margin improvement in a single season in the entire NFL since 2019.

Quinn became the first head coach in franchise history to win 10-plus games in his first season as head coach. He also became the first head coach in franchise history to win multiple playoff games in his first season as head coach. Quinn joined Pro Football Hall of Famers Joe Gibbs and George Allen as the only head coaches in franchise history to win multiple playoff games in a single season.

In 2024, Washington led the NFL in fourth down conversion percentage (87.0) and ranked No. 5 in total conversions (20) with many crediting Quinn's trust in the offense in giving the team the opportunity to convert at a historic rate. The 20 fourth down conversions and the 87.0 fourth down conversion percentage were both single season franchise records.

Quinn joined the Commanders after coaching for 21 total seasons, most recently serving as the defensive coordinator for the Dallas Cowboys where he was named Assistant Coach of the Year voted on by the Associated Press in 2021. He inherited a defense in 2021 that ranked 28th in points-per-game. From 2021-23, Quinn's unit ranked No. 5 in the NFL in points-per-game (19.9), No. 7 in the NFL in net yards allowed-per-game (327.0), No. 6 in the NFL in sacks (141) and No. 1 in the NFL in interceptions (59). His unit also ranked No. 4 in the NFL in that span in third down conversion percentage (36.4%). Quinn has also excelled in developing defensive talent in Dallas. During his stint as defensive coordinator he assisted in the development of LB Micah Parsons, CB Trevon Diggs and CB DaRon Bland who were all named First Team All Pro as voted on by the Associated Press once over the past three seasons. Dallas also placed three defensive players into the 2024 Pro Bowl in each level of the defense with DE DeMarcus Lawrence, LB Micah Parsons and CB DaRon Bland all representing the NFC this year in Orlando.

Prior to his stint in Dallas, Quinn spent five seasons as the head coach of the Atlanta Falcons from 2015-2020 where he led Atlanta to an appearance in Super Bowl LI and a playoff berth with a victory and appearance in the NFC Divisional Round in 2017. During his tenure as the Falcons head coach, Atlanta ranked No. 6 in the NFL in total takeaways with 105. Quinn finished his career in Atlanta with a 43-42 regular season record and 3-2 record in the postseason. He captured the second NFC Championship in Atlanta Falcons franchise history.

Quinn landed his first head coaching role after leading one of the greatest defenses in NFL history in Seattle. Quinn oversaw a Seattle defense in 2013-14 that helped guide the club to consecutive Super Bowl appearances. Over those two seasons, the Seahawks ranked No. 1 in the NFL in fewest yards allowed (270.4), points allowed (15.2) and passing yards allowed (178.8), all while holding opposing offenses to just 91.6 rushing yards-per-game. During his tenure in Seattle, Quinn worked with CB Richard Sherman who led the NFL with 12 interceptions in 2013-14. The Seattle defense also led the NFL during that span with 28 total interceptions. In the two seasons that Quinn oversaw the defense, the team totaled 63 total takeaways, which lead the league. Over the course of those two seasons, Quinn had four of his defensive players earn seven Pro Bowl selections – CB Richard Sherman (two), S Kam Chancellor (two), CB Earl Thomas (two) and LB Bobby Wagner (one).

In college, Quinn was a four-year letter winner and two-time co-captain (1992-93) defensive lineman at Salisbury State (Division III in Salisbury, Md.). Quinn also lettered in track and field and held the school record in the hammer throw. He was inducted into the Salisbury State Athletic Hall of Fame in 2005.

Quinn, originally from Morristown, N.J., and his wife, Stacey, started Quinn's Corps in 2004, which helps serve members of the military both at home and abroad.

KLIFF KINGSBURY

OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR

Kliff Kingsbury enters his second season in Washington after serving as a senior offensive analyst for USC in 2023.

In 2023, USC's offense scored 41.85 points per game and Kingsbury worked closely with 2024 NFL Draft first overall selection Caleb Williams who threw for 3,633 yards and 30 touchdowns.

Prior to his time at USC, Kingsbury served as the head coach for the Arizona Cardinals for four seasons (2019-22). In 2021, Arizona posted an 11-6 record and secured a playoff berth. Kingsbury became the first head coach since 2015 to post 11-plus wins in a single season and lead the Cardinals to the playoffs. The Cardinals offense ranked top 10 in the league in total offense (8th), touchdowns scored (tied for 8th) and rushing offense (10th). Arizona was one of three teams to rank in the top 10 in total, rushing and passing offense that season.

Kingsbury worked closely with Cardinals QB Kyler Murray. In 2020, Murray threw for a career-high 3,971 passing yards and 26 touchdowns and earned Pro Bowl honors. In his first year under Kingsbury's guidance in 2019, Murray earned Associated Press Offensive Rookie of the Year honors.

In 2019, the Cardinals had a historic offensive improvement under Kingsbury. While going 5-10-1 (a two-game improvement from 2018), they were No. 13 in offensive efficiency and had the second-best ground game in the NFL, setting a franchise-record by averaging 5.03 yards per carry. Kyler Murray was named the 2019 NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year.

In 2020, the Cardinals improved to 8-8 to place third in the NFC West with 3 Pro Bowlers and continued to progress under Kingsbury in the 2021 campaign with a hot 7-0 start and finished 11-6 with 5 Pro Bowlers. They placed second in the NFC West, losing in the Wild Card playoffs to the eventual Super Bowl LVI champs, the Los Angeles Rams. In 2021, the Cardinals ranked in the top-10 in the NFL in both scoring and total offense.

From 2013-18, Kingsbury served as the head coach at his alma mater Texas Tech. Each season that Kingsbury called plays for the Red Raiders' offense, they ranked in the top 10 for passing yards and in the top 20 in total offense. His teams also averaged at least 30 points per game in every season.

In 2015, Texas Tech ranked second in the country in total offense (570.5), passing offense (388.2) and scoring offense (45.1). QB Patrick Mahomes threw for 4,633 yards and 36 touchdowns, becoming the youngest quarterback in NCAA history to amass 5,000 yards of total offense as he led the nation in that category (393.0).

In 2012, Kingsbury served as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Texas A&M, helping QB Johnny Manziel become the first freshman to win the Heisman Trophy. The Aggies ranked third nationally in total offense (558.5), 13th nationally in rushing offense (242.1) and 14th in passing offense (316.5).

Kingsbury began his coaching career at Houston for four seasons, first as the offensive quality control coach, then quarterback coach and finally as co-offensive coordinator. The Cougars led the nation in total offense (599.1), passing offense (450.1) and scoring (49.3) in 2011, while QB Case Keenum completed his record-setting career and won the Sammy Baugh Trophy while being named a Heisman finalist.

Kingsbury was drafted by the New England Patriots in the sixth round in the 2003 NFL Draft. He spent 2003 on injured reserve with the Patriots, then was on the New Orleans Saints practice squad in 2004. He played for the New York Jets in 2005, appearing in one game, then attended the Buffalo Bills training camp in 2006. He played for the Cologne Centurions of NFL Europe in 2006, then signed with the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League in 2007 before spending that season with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

As a player at Texas Tech, Kingsbury became one of three players in NCAA history to have more than 12,000 passing yards and total yards, with 1,000-plus completions. He set 39 school records, 16 Big 12 marks and 17 NCAA records. As a 2002 senior, he won the Sammy Baugh Trophy and was the Associated Press Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year.

BRIAN JOHNSON

ASSISTANT HEAD COACH & OFFENSIVE PASS GAME COORDINATOR

Brian Johnson enters his second season as the team's Assistant Head Coach and Offensive Pass Game Coordinator.

In 2024, Johnson worked closely with quarterback Jayden Daniels, who earned AP Rookie of the Year honors, threw for 3,568 yards, 25 passing touchdowns, nine interceptions and a 69 percent completion percentage. He rushed for 891 yards, a rookie single-season record, and six touchdowns. Daniels' combined 31 touchdowns ranked third all-time for a rookie quarterback in league history and is tied with Kirk Cousins for the third most in a single season in Washington history. Daniels also earned Pepsi Rookie of the Week honors 10 times, a new record.

In 2024, wide receiver Terry McLaurin recorded a franchise-record 13 touchdowns. He also recorded 1,000-plus yards in five-consecutive seasons and became one of four wide receivers joining WR Brandon Marshall, WR Torry Holt and WR Randy Moss to have recorded at least 75 receptions and 1,000-plus receiving yards in five of their first six seasons in the league.

Johnson joined the Commanders after serving as the Offensive Coordinator for the Philadelphia Eagles in 2023.

In 2023, the Eagles offense ranked eighth in the league in total offense (354.4 total yards per game), third in third down offense (48 percent), first in fourth down offense (73.08 percent) and seventh in points per game (25.5).

Prior to his promotion, Johnson served as the Quarterbacks Coach for the Eagles for two seasons (2021-22). He worked closely with quarterback Jalen Hurts. In 2022, Hurts finished second in Associated Press NFL MVP voting and earned his first All-Pro and Pro Bowl honors. He threw for 3,701 passing yards and 22 touchdowns. Hurts also ran for 760 yards and 13 rushing touchdowns, the most by a quarterback that season. Under Johnson's guidance, Hurts became the youngest quarterback in Eagles history to lead his team to the playoffs during the 2021 season.

Prior to joining the Eagles, Johnson was at the University of Florida serving as Quarterbacks Coach from 2018-19 and was promoted to Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks Coach in 2020. During his time with the Gators, he mentored three All-American selections – quarterback Kyle Trask, tight end Kyle Pitts and wide receiver Kadarius Toney. The Gators offense also ranked first in the FBS in passing yards per game (378.6) in 2020.

In 2017, Johnson was the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for the University of Houston.

From 2014-16, Johnson worked as the Quarterbacks Coach at Mississippi State. He mentored quarterback Dak Prescott as Prescott became one of the best quarterbacks in SEC history. Prescott became one of two quarterbacks in SEC history to throw for 8,500 yards and rush for 2,000 yards. In 2015, Prescott was named a finalist for the Manning and Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Awards after setting school records in completions (316), completion percentage (66.2), passing yards (3,793) and efficiency rating (151.7).

Johnson began his coaching career at his alma mater, Utah, as the Quarterbacks Coach and was promoted to Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks Coach after two seasons. In 2012, he became the youngest FBS offensive coordinator in the nation at 24 years old.

As a player at Utah, Johnson was a three-year starter and two-time bowl MVP and finished with the most wins (26) in school history, including an undefeated 13-0 season in 2008. He threw for 7,853 yards and 57 touchdowns and ran for 848 yards and 12 rushing touchdowns. Johnson was featured on the cover of EA Sports' 2010 NCAA Football video game.

A native of Baytown TX., Johnson and his wife Ashley have three children, Rossi, Harlow and Pierce.

JOE WHITT JR.

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR

Joe Whitt Jr. is entering his second season with the Washington Commanders as the team's defensive coordinator.

In 2024, the Washington defensive unit helped reach the NFC Championship game led by Linebacker Bobby Wagner who achieved his 12th Pro Bowl and fifth Second-Team All-Pro selection along with Linebacker Frankie Luvu who was named Second Team All-Pro voted on by the Associated Press. Washington ranked seventh in sacks per pass attempt (9.52%) and totaled 43 sacks ranking 11th in the league.

Whitt Jr. joined the Commanders in 2024 after serving as the secondary/defensive passing game coordinator for the Dallas Cowboys for the past three seasons (2021-23). Since taking over the secondary in 2021, Whitt's unit has led the league with 59 interceptions. Last season, Dallas' pass defense ranked fifth in passing yards allowed per game (187.4) and recorded 17 interceptions, tied for the eighth most in the NFL. CB DaRon Bland set an NFL single-season record for most interceptions returned for touchdowns in a single season (five) and earned Pro Bowl and All Pro honors. The Cowboys allowed 27 plays of 25-plus yards, the second fewest in the league.

In 2022, Whitt Jr. worked closely with CB Trevon Diggs as he recorded three interceptions, 14 passes defensed and forced incompletions on 12.1 percent of passes. Dallas ranked eighth in the league in net pass yards per game (200.9) and tied for 10th in completion percentage (62.7). S Donovan Hooker registered 5.0 sacks which led all defensive backs and was tied for the most by a Cowboys defensive back since 1984.

In 2021, the Cowboys finished in the top 10 for opponent completion percentage (59.5 - third) and interceptions (26 – first). Diggs led the NFL with 11 interceptions and tied a franchise record while also earning his first Pro Bowl honors. Diggs was also named First Team All Pro as voted on by the Associated Press.

Whitt Jr. served as the secondary/defensive passing game coordinator for the Atlanta Falcons in 2020.

Prior to working in Atlanta, he worked as the pass game coordinator/secondary coach for the Cleveland Browns in 2019. His unit ranked seventh against the pass, allowing 216.9 yards per game. The Browns had 14 interceptions, tied for eighth in the NFL.

In 2018, Whitt Jr. was the defensive pass game coordinator after serving as the secondary/cornerbacks coach for the Green Bay Packers for nine seasons (2009-17). During his time in Green Bay, he helped the team win Super Bowl XLV, and he coached the Packers to a league-high 176 interceptions while ranking ninth in opponent passer rating (83.2). His unit ranked seventh in opponent completion percentage (59.8) and touchdown-to-interception ratio (1.34).

Cornerbacks Tramon Williams and Sam Shields combine for 33 interceptions from 2010-14 which was the most by a set of teammates in that time span. From 2009-11, the Packers led the NFL twice (2009 and 2010) and had 85 total interceptions. It was the most by the team over a three-year span since 1943-45 (95) and the most by any NFL team since the Minnesota Vikings and San Francisco 49ers each posted 86 from 1986-88.

In 2009, Whitt Jr. helped Hall of Fame CB Charles Woodson to a career-best nine interceptions, four forced fumbles, 18 pass defensed and three defensive touchdowns. Woodson earned defensive player of the year honors that year and became 1-of-11 defensive backs in NFL history to achieve the honor.

Whitt Jr. entered the NFL coaching ranks with the Atlanta Falcons in 2007 as an assistant defensive backs coach.

He coached cornerbacks at Louisville from 2003-06 and wide receivers at the Citadel in 2002.

Whitt Jr. played collegiately at Auburn as a walk-on wide receiver, eventually earning a scholarship. He transitioned to a student assistant after suffering injuries and graduated in 2001 with a degree in communications.

LARRY IZZO

SPECIAL TEAMS COORDINATOR

Larry Izzo enters his second season as the team's special teams coordinator.

In 2024, Washington utilized the NFL's new dynamic kickoff return rules. Running back Austin Ekeler finished the season with 594 kickoff return yards, which ranked third in the league. Alternatively, Washington had the lowest touchback percentage in the NFL (23.9%).

Under Izzo, punter Tress Way posted a net yard average of 41.5, which was his highest since the 2020 season. Additionally, Washington special teamers Nick Bellore (24) and safety Jeremy Reaves (21) finished top two in special teams tackles last season.

Izzo's special teams units have finished top 10 in the league in DVOA each of the last five seasons (2020-2024).

In Week 2 against the New York Giants, kicker Austin Seibert made a franchise record seven field goals including the game-winner as time expired. Additionally, in the NFC Championship game, punter Tress Way and TE Ben Sinnott connected on a 23-yard pass to extend a drive that eventually led to three points.

Izzo joined the Commanders after serving as the special teams coordinator for the Seattle Seahawks (2021-23). Izzo is entering his 15th year of NFL coaching and seventh as a special teams coordinator. Before his six-year stint with Seattle, Izzo spent seven seasons coaching with the N.Y. Giants (2011-15) and Houston (2016-17) following a 14-year playing career.

The Seahawks proved to be one of the best special team units in the NFL since 2021 with Kicker Jason Meyers leading the NFL in scoring in the 2022 season awarding him a Pro Bowl appearance (143). Meyers performance in 2023 remained consistent scoring only five less points than the previous year with a career high in made field goals (35). Punter Michael Dickson finished second in the league in net average (44.4 yards per punt) in 2022 while having a career high average in punt yards with 50 this past season.

In 2020, Izzo's special teams unit continued to dominate with kicker Jason Myers connecting on all 24 field goals, finishing 2020 having made 35-consecutive field goals dating back to 2019, a franchise-record. Punter Michael Dickson ranked second in the NFL with a 49.6 punting average and ranked in the top-five in average, net average, and punts landing inside the 20. Long snapper Tyler Ott and special teamer Nick Bellore were voted to their first Pro Bowls.

In 2019, punter Michael Dickson tied the franchise-record for most punts landing inside the 20 in a single season (34). The Seahawks special teams units forced three takeaways and blocked three kicks.

Izzo's first year with Seattle in 2018, Dickson set the franchise single-season punt average (48.2) and net average (42.5) records while becoming the first rookie punter to be named first-team AP All-Pro since Oakland's Shane Lechler in 2000 and the first Seattle punter to make the Pro Bowl since Rick Tuten in 1994, and the first rookie punter since the Los Angeles Rams' Dale Hatcher in 1985 to be selected to a Pro Bowl.

Prior to joining the Seahawks staff as an assistant special teams coach under Brian Schneider, Izzo spent 2016-17 with the Houston Texans as the special teams coordinator. In 2016, kicker Nick Novak tied for second in the NFL with 35 field goals made, which marked his career high and the most in a single season in Texans history.

Izzo spent his first five seasons (2011-15) with the Giants as an assistant special teams coach highlighted with a victory in Super Bowl XLVI. In 2015, the special teams unit ranked fifth in opponent kickoff return average (20.3) and tied for first in field goal percentage (93.8). New York was also seventh in the NFL in punt return average (10.2) and 10th in kickoff returning average (24.9). The Giants' kickoff team allowed an average return of just 18.3 yards in 2014, which ranked second in the NFL.

In his 14-year NFL career, Izzo played for three teams, including the Miami Dolphins (1996-2000), New England Patriots (2001-08) and New York Jets (2009). He was a three-time Super Bowl champion with New England (2001, 2003 and 2004) and a three-time Pro Bowler (2000, 2002 and 2004). He is one of 22 people in NFL history to win a Super Bowl as both a player and coach. He recorded 275 special teams tackles in 200 regular season games and 23 more in 21 postseason games. Izzo never played on a team with a losing record and his teams participated in the playoffs nine times, reaching five AFC Championship Games and four Super Bowls. He was selected as a special teams captain nine times, including eight with the Patriots.

A native of Woodlands, TX., Izzo was a four-year letterman and three-year starter at Rice University, where he played linebacker and finished fourth in school history with 301 tackles, including a record 46 for losses. He was named a consensus first-team All-Southwest Conference selection his senior year. He graduated in 2002 with a degree in business.

Izzo is married to his wife Mara, and they have two sons, Boston and Hawk.

COMMANDERS UNVEIL 'SUPER BOWL ERA' ALTERNATE UNIFORMS AND HELMET

BY ZACH SELBY

The Washington Commanders have unveiled their new alternate "Super Bowl Era" uniforms and helmet, which pay homage to the franchise's most successful period, on the 93rd anniversary of the team's inception.

The uniforms and helmet will be worn three times during the 2025 season and make their debut on Nov. 2 during the team's Sunday Night Football matchup with the Seattle Seahawks. They will also be worn on Nov. 30 against the Denver Broncos and the team's Christmas Day game, which will stream on Netflix, against the Dallas Cowboys.

"We are excited to celebrate Washington's rich history with these iconic, Super Bowl Era uniforms this season," Commanders Team President Mark Clouse said via press release. "Ever since Josh Harris and our ownership group acquired the team back in 2023, they've placed great value in finding ways to connect the past and present and pay homage to those that made the Burgundy & Gold what it is today."

The uniform design draws inspiration from the ones Washington wore during all three of the franchise's Super Bowl wins in 1982, 1987 and 1991. The white jersey features burgundy numbers with gold outlines and gold stripes on the sleeves. The players' nameplates will have burgundy letters with the same gold outline. The burgundy pants and socks will include gold and white stripes.

The helmet will have the iconic look of the 1980s and 1990s alongside the team's current logo. It will have a gold face mask as well as white and gold stripes down the center of the helmet.

"These uniforms honor the most successful era of our franchise -- one that reflects a culture of excellence and encompasses many historical moments and special memories amongst our fanbase," Clouse said. "We look forward to bringing that nostalgic feeling back to fans, while incorporating a modern feel for our next generation of fans."

The Commanders will be decked out in their "Monument White" jersey for their season opener against the Giants. They will wear the jersey a total of eight times this year -- more than any of their other jerseys -- including their primetime matchup with the Kansas City Chiefs as well as their game against the Miami Dolphins in Spain.

Washington's "Legacy Burgundy" jerseys will be featured five times this season, starting with their Week 2 Thursday Night Football matchup with the Green Bay Packers and the following week against the Las Vegas Raiders at Northwest Stadium. Washington's signature gold pants, which were added to the uniform combinations last season as a nod to the franchise's history, will also return for the 2025 season. Washington's 'Battle Black" jerseys will be worn one time this season during their primetime game against the Chicago Bears.

Washington's alternate uniforms -- the "Super Bowl Era" uniforms that were unveiled earlier this summer -- will be worn three times this season, all of which are primetime or standalone games. The uniforms will be worn for the first time against the Seattle Seahawks, in which the team will officially retire Hall of Fame wide receiver Art Monk's No. 81 jersey. The Commanders will also wear the "Super Bowl Era" uniforms against the Denver Broncos and the Dallas Cowboys on Christmas Day.

DAVE GARDI

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT OF FOOTBALL INITIATIVES

Dave Gardi is entering his second season as the Washington Commanders' Senior Vice President of Football Initiatives.

Gardi joined the Commanders after working at the NFL League Office for 21 years. He held the role of senior vice president of football operations for 10 years. Prior to his role as senior vice president of football operations, he served as the League's vice president of labor relations and football administration. Gardi started at the League Office as counsel in 2003.

Gardi will handle a number of in-game management duties and will support the coaching staff and front office on compliance with League protocols, officiating trends and health and safety guidelines.

As the NFL's Senior Vice President of Football Operations, Gardi played a pivotal role in the development of policies and procedures that helped control the competitive balance and integrity of the game. He also helped oversee all of the League's rules administration on game day.

Prior to his role with the football operations department at the NFL League Office, Gardi advised clubs on matters related to the NFL Collective Bargaining Agreement, including players contracts, salary cap, club discipline, League policies, and workers compensation.

A Sayville, N.Y. native, Gardi played quarterback for four years at Brown University. He earned a BA in political science while at Brown. Gardi also earned a Doctor of Law degree from Hofstra University. While earning his law degree at Hofstra, Gardi assisted his father, Joe Gardi who was the head coach of the Hofstra football program.

Gardi is married to his wife, Michele, and they have two children Chase and Grayson.

DYLAN THOMPSON

SENIOR DIRECTOR OF TEAM SUPPORT AND ADVANCEMENT

Dylan Thompson is entering his second season as the team's Senior Director of Team Support and Advancement.

Thompson joined the Commanders after working for the Houston Texans for the past three seasons. He most recently served as their director of team development.

Prior to the Texans, Thompson served as the character coach for the Detroit Lions from 2018-21. In 2017, Thompson was the director of player development for the Charleston Southern men's basketball team.

A native of Boiling Springs, South Carolina, Thompson attended the University of South Carolina where he played quarterback for three seasons (2012-14). In 2014, he led his team to a victory over the Miami Hurricanes in the 2014 Independence Bowl and led the SEC in several offensive categories.

Thompson was signed as an undrafted free agent by the San Francisco 49ers in 2015. He was also a member of the Los Angeles Rams during the 2017 offseason program.

TIM MCGRATH

SENIOR DIRECTOR OF PLAYER HEALTH AND PERFORMANCE

Tim McGrath is entering his second season as the team's senior director of player health and performance.

will oversee the training room along with the strength and conditioning, nutrition, sports science and player wellness programs at the organization.

McGrath arrived in Washington with an extensive background in clinical practice, rehabilitation & performance programming and implementation in professional sports. He has 20 years of professional sports experience and 22 years of clinical experience.

"Tim McGrath has been an incredible resource for our players since joining the organization as a consultant towards the end of last season," said General Manager Adam Peters. "I'm excited to officially welcome him to the organization in a full-time capacity as our senior director of player health and performance. I've been impressed with the time I've spent with him since I was hired here in January. He has a vast knowledge in all areas of player wellness and athlete performance and will play a vital role in improving our overall athletic training and athlete care services here in Washington."

McGrath will work to implement programming that creates individualized plans for each athlete, applying new technology best practices from around the world and adding inputs across all sports science platforms.

McGrath has provided clinical consultancy across the world for over 35 professional sports teams across 11 different leagues. He has consulted teams in the NFL, NBA, NHL, English Premier League, MLR (Major League Rugby), AFL (Australian Football League), NRL (National Rugby League), English Premiership Rugby, Super Rugby, A-League and both international rugby as well as World Rugby Sevens.

McGrath most recently worked as the clinical lead for the Cronulla Sharks of the National Rugby League with the title of physiotherapy & medical services coordinator. In his role with the Sharks, he was the clinical lead for the organization, oversaw return to play strategies with the coaching staff, and oversaw the rehabbing and injury prevention planning.

McGrath also held the position of clinical research director for PitchReady, a company which specializes in pre-injury reduction strategies and return-to-sport testing. He also holds the title of clinical director for Elite Rehab & Sports Physiotherapy which is a facility in Australia that specializes in sports physiotherapy, dietetics, rehabilitation and athlete development management.

Prior to his work with the Cronulla Sharks, McGrath held the title of physiotherapy & medical services coordinator for the St-George-Illawarra Dragons of the National Rugby League. At the Dragons, he was responsible for the medical program along with acute diagnosis and return to play decision making. He also oversaw both the rehab program and injury prevention planning and implementation.

McGrath held the role of head of physiotherapy for the Port Adelaide Football Club in the Australian Football League from 2015-17 where he was the clinical lead for the organization. Prior to his stint with Port Adelaide, he held the role of team physiotherapist for the Australian Men's Rugby 7's National Team from 2012-14, specializing in injury prevention planning and overseeing the rehab programming. He has also held the role of head physiotherapist at Act Brumbies Rugby (2006-11), Sale Sharks Rugby (2006) and the Canberra Raiders (2004-06).

McGrath received his doctorate in clinical physiotherapy from the Research Institute for Sports & Exercise at the University of Canberra in Australia. He also holds a masters in musculoskeletal & sports physiotherapy from Griffith University in Australia and a bachelor of physiotherapy degree from Charles Sturt University in Australia. He has also contributed to numerous research publications on sports science, orthopedics and physiotherapy.

AL BELLAMY

HEAD ATHLETIC TRAINER

Al Bellamy is in his second stint with Washington and fourth season as head athletic trainer after spending nine seasons as the director of athletic training for Temple University. While working directly with Temple's football team, he also oversaw all 19 of the school's intercollegiate sports and also managed the sports medicine staff.

Prior to arriving at Temple, Bellamy spent 25 years in the NFL, including 12 seasons with the Detroit Lions and 13 seasons in Washington. With Detroit, Bellamy helped manage the team's athletic training staff and worked closely with the team's physicians.

Bellamy started his NFL career as an assistant trainer in Washington in 1988. He was a member of Washington's medical staff when the team won Super Bowl XXVI at the end of the 1991 season. Bellamy worked with 21+ members of the Pro Football Hall of Fame including Morten Anderson, Champ Bailey, Bobby Beathard, Fred Dean, Edward DeBartolo, Joe Gibbs, Darrell Green, Russ Grimm, Charles Haley, Michael Irvin, Ronnie Lott, Bobby Mitchell, Art Monk, Joe Montana, Jerry Rice, Charley Sanders, Deion Sanders, Bruce Smith, Charley Taylor, Emmitt Thomas and Bill Walsh.

Prior to joining Washington for his first stint, he served as an assistant athletic trainer with the University of Miami (FL) football team from 1986-88. He was a member of the 1987 National Championship medical team.

Bellamy earned his master's degree in health education in 1987 from Syracuse University. As an undergrad, he attended Michigan State and received his bachelor's degree in health education in 1984. While at MSU, he began working in the NFL when he served training camp internships with both the St. Louis Cardinals and San Francisco 49ers.

Prior to attending Michigan State, Bellamy attended Archbishop John Carroll High School in Washington, D.C.

Bellamy and his wife, Sharon, have two children, son Chase, and daughter Ashley.

COMMANDERS TO RETIRE ART MONK'S NO. 81 JERSEY IN WEEK 9 VS. SEAHAWKS

BY ZACH SELBY

It was a cloudy morning in Florida when Art Monk got a knock at his door.

Monk was not expecting visitors, never mind some of his former teammates like Gary Clark, Ricky Sanders and Doug Williams standing on his patio. They were joined by Washington Commanders Managing Partner Josh Harris, Team President Mark Clouse and several family members, all wearing t-shirts with his old jersey number and ear-to-ear smiles on their faces. They were there to tell him that no Washington player would wear No. 81 ever again.

All Monk could muster was, 'What the...?"

Monk, the team's all-time leading receiver, has been a living embodiment of the franchise's greatest era. His 16-year career, 14 of which were in Washington, was filled with Super Bowl victories, Pro Bowls and All-Pro selections. He was listed as one of Washington's greatest players and inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame as well as the team's Ring of Fame after a historic career.

Now, Monk is among the select few players to have their jerseys retired by the franchise, with the honor coming on Nov. 2 during the team's Week 9 game vs. Seattle on Sunday Night Football.

"I've been sitting here these last few days just trying to digest it all," Monk said.

Monk was not expecting to receive the honor, which speaks to the way he has approached the game throughout his life, dating back to when he was playing with his friends in the street with a half-inflated football. He played because he loved the sport and did not expect any awards or accolades in return, which was partly why he was so beloved by his teammates.

And yet, Monk found success at every level of his playing career. He was an instant contributor with Washington after a four-year career with Syracuse -- he remains one of the top receivers in program history -- and was named a unanimous All-Rookie selection for setting a franchise rookie record-breaking 58 receptions. He broke numerous other team records, including scrimmage yards, receptions and consecutive games with at least one catch. He was the first player to record over 100 receptions in the Super Bowl Era, reach 820 receptions in a career and record a catch in 180 consecutive games.

What Monk remembers and appreciates most, however, are the players he suited up with over the years. He was a member of both "The Posse," which included Sanders and Clark, and "The Fun Bunch" alongside Virgil Seay, Charlie Brown, Alvin Garrett, Rick "Doc" Walker and Don Warren. Both groups brought the franchise Super Bowls and made league history as well as add their own personal flair to the team.

"It was a lot of fun," Monk said. "No matter where we were...it was just a lot of fun. We laughed all the time but we also took our job seriously. But during the offseason, we just enjoyed being around each other. We fed off of each other; we challenged each other. We helped make each other what we ended up becoming."

Monk is the only Hall of Famer from either group, but he credits others for his success as much as his own work ethic. "They're acknowledging me," he said, "but football is a team sport." He believes that had it not been for the players around him -- he listed off Clark, Williams, Brown, Sanders, quarterback Mark Rypien and "The Hogs" among several others -- he would not be in the position to have his jersey retired.

"There are these great receivers on other teams... but didn't have that type of support and weren't able to display and show the success that they could have had in their careers."

Monk recalls a sentiment from former head coach Joe Gibbs, who constantly reminded him and his teammates that "you're not by yourself on this team."

"You can't survive," Monk said. "You can't succeed without the other ... It wasn't about me; it was about us as a team."

Monk made sure he did his part -- something he did better than most from the time he was first introduced to the sport.

"Obviously, you want to win when you play the game, but I just loved the game that much," Monk said. "I just wanted to play it, and anytime I had the chance to do so...I did. And in doing that, it led me from one platform to another and obviously into the NFL. There's nothing like it. There's a high you get from it that you can't get doing anything else."

That's one of several reasons why Monk's teammates always returned that respect.

"You showed us what greatness looked like every single day in your work ethic and your humility and how you carried this franchise with dignity," Clark told Monk. "You changed the standard for wide receivers not just here in Washington, but across the league."

Monk knows he was a great wide receiver -- there is too much evidence to suggest otherwise. His teammates will point to how hard he worked every day, practiced hard so he could be available each Sunday, and his consistent reliable production. They will point to how good of person he was and how he was there for them, both on and off the field, as the reason why it is an easy decision for the team to honor Monk in a manner that Clark said "should have been done a long time ago."

Monk, however, would point his finger back at them.

"I can sit here and take all the credit, but a lot of the credit also goes to them and to the rest of my teammates because a team is a team," Monk said. "One could not do their job without the other."

ROB ROGERS

VICE PRESIDENT OF FOOTBALL ADMINISTRATION

Rob Rogers enters his 31st season in the NFL and his second as Vice President of Football Administration after spending four seasons as Senior Vice President of Football Administration. In this role, Rogers supports the current football leadership team in player contract analysis, negotiation strategy, salary cap management, player budget planning, football departmental budget planning, NFL Collective Bargaining Agreement compliance, football administration application development, and various other front office duties.

Prior to coming to Washington, Rogers held the title of Executive Director of Player Finance and Football Research for the Carolina Panthers (2018-2019) and prior to that was the team's Director of Football Administration for eleven years (2008-18). In each of these roles, Rogers was the Panthers' primary player contract negotiator and worked closely with the general manager on negotiation strategy, salary cap and roster management, player contract research, and player budget planning. In addition to his other roles, Rogers worked with both coaching and personnel on implementing best practices regarding the NFL Collective Bargaining Agreement; as the club's NFL Management Council liaison, he advised on compliance with all NFL personnel, contract, and labor-related matters. Rogers was also involved in Carolina's efforts in football analytics and on multiple occasions contributed to the design and development of contract and cap analysis databases, personnel scouting systems, and opponent/self-scout game analysis applications.

Rogers joined the Carolina Panthers in 1995 in a role focused primarily on working closely with both coaching and the front office on technology implementation and process development. After the 1998 season, Rogers shifted to instead work within football administration on player contract and salary cap analysis as well as CBA compliance. Over the next ten years he expanded upon those duties, including an increasing role in the negotiation of draft and free agent contracts, before being named the team's Director of Football Administration in 2008.

For over two decades, Rogers has also been a member of the NFL Club Services Committee, comprised of various club front office executives brought together to provide guidance and feedback on technology integration initiatives to the development staff of the NFL Management Council.

Rogers and his wife Clair have two children: daughter Emma and son Brady.

BRYAN PORTER

DIRECTOR OF FOOTBALL OPERATIONS

Bryan Porter is in his fifth season in Washington as director of football operations after being hired by the team in 2021. In his role, Porter directs the football operations team travel, budget, and supports the day-to-day logistics in the department.

Porter was the football operations manager from 2011-17, where he planned and executed all travel, including bus and hotel contracts, while also managing training camp operations.

Prior to his promotion to manager, Porter was the Panthers' football operations coordinator from 2006-11 and operations assistant from 2003-06. He worked as a team equipment intern in 2001 and 2002 after starting as an intern with the public relations department in the spring of 2001.

Porter played football at Guilford College from 1996-99. He earned his undergraduate degree from N.C. State in business management in 2001.

Porter and his wife, Nicki, have two children, Davis and Henry.

DAVID BLACKBURN

DIRECTOR OF PLAYER PERSONNEL

David Blackburn is entering his second season as director of player personnel with the Washington Commanders after serving as director of college scouting for the Baltimore Ravens for two seasons (2022-23).

Blackburn joins the Commanders after working for the Baltimore Ravens for the past 17 years. In Baltimore he most recently held the role of director of college scouting. In that role, Blackburn oversaw the Baltimore college scouting process and played a vital role in planning for the NFL Draft.

Blackburn joined the Baltimore Ravens organization in 2007 as a player personnel assistant. He worked his way up the Baltimore scouting department eventually becoming an area scout in the West from 2012-2019. He was promoted to the role of national scout and held that position from 2020-21 before being promoted to director of college scouting following the 2022 NFL Draft.

Blackburn worked as a graduate assistant for Butler University in 2006 prior to joining the Ravens organization. During his one season at Butler he assisted with the defensive backs.

An Indianapolis, In. native, Blackburn graduated from DePauw University with a degree in economics and a minor in history. While at DePauw, he was a four-year starter at cornerback for the football program. He was a team captain during his senior season and became the school's only four-time All-SCAC (Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference) selection.

Blackburn was inducted into the DePauw Athletics Hall of Fame as part of the 2020 class. He also received the DePauw Young Alumni Award in 2018. Blackburn has also served on both the DePauw Alumni Association Board of Directors and the DePauw Board of Visitors. Blackburn is married to his wife, Kishia and the couple have two sons, David III and Khyris, and a daughter, Aubree.

CHRIS WHITE

DIRECTOR OF PRO SCOUTING

Chris White is entering his second season as director of pro personnel with the Washington Commanders after serving as assistant director of pro scouting with the Chicago Bears.

White joins the Commanders after working for the Chicago Bears the past 10 seasons. He most recently served as the team's assistant director of pro scouting from 2022-23. He held the role of pro scout with Chicago from 2017-22.

White joined the Chicago Bears organization in 2014 as a scouting assistant and held that role for two seasons. He was promoted to the role of pro scouting coordinator in 2016 and held that position until 2017 when he was ultimately elevated to pro scout.

White spent a year in football recruiting at Florida State. He first entered the NFL as a player personnel intern with the Detroit Lions during training camp in 2013. He started his post collegiate playing career as an intern at Florida Atlantic from 2011-12.

A New Orleans, La. native, White graduated from Florida Atlantic with a BA in political science and government. He would also go on to get his Master of Education from Florida Atlantic.

White played offensive line at Florida Atlantic from 2007-10. He was part of an Owls team in 2008 that finished third in the Sun Belt Conference and defeated Central Michigan in the Motor City Bowl in Detroit, Michigan.

DIRECTOR OF COLLEGE SCOUTING

Tim Gribble is entering his 24th season with Washington and his second as the Director of College Personnel. He was promoted to his current role on Jan. 14, 2020.

Gribble oversees the organization's evaluation of collegiate talent and manage scouting efforts at both the area and national levels.

Gribble previously assisted Kyle Smith and Washington's personnel staff by providing evaluations of collegiate talent at the national level.

Prior to his promotion to assistant director of college scouting in 2017, Gribble spent the previous 11 seasons as an area scout for Washington. He originally joined Washington in 2002 and served as a pro personnel assistant, later adding responsibility as the team's Northeast scout in 2003. He also covered the South and Midwest regions at various points during his first 16 years with the organization.

Before coming to Washington, Gribble spent two seasons with the Pittsburgh Steelers as an assistant in the scouting department.

Prior to joining the NFL, he was an assistant coach for his alma mater, Duquesne University. He served as the Dukes' special teams coordinator (1996-2000), defensive line coach (1996-98) and running backs coach (1998-2000).

Gribble was a four-year starter (1992-96) at fullback and team captain at Duquesne. He also played baseball for the Dukes and earned dual degrees in psychology and sociology. He is married to his wife, Jennifer.

SANTANA MOSS TO BE INDUCTED IN RING OF FAME WEEK 1 VS. GIANTS

BY ZACH SELBY

Santana Moss never asked for anything in his career. He has lived his life on one philosophy: work hard, put in the work, and the results would come to him.

That approach helped Moss become one of the best receivers in franchise history, and now, eleven years after his final game, he's being recognized for it. The Commanders announced on Sunday that Moss would be the 52nd player inducted into their Ring of Fame during halftime of the team's season opener against the New York Giants.

"I know what I did on the field...but to be acknowledged for it, man, it's a different feeling," Moss said. "You feel like you're appreciated."

Moss, now an analyst for "Command Center" -- the team's in-house media broadcast -- was told the news by Ring of Fame member Brian Mitchell at the end of Sunday's show. He was then surprised by a mixture of about two dozen family members, friends and former teammates, all wearing hats with Moss' name and number on them.

They couldn't see it because of his sunglasses, but Moss' eyes began to well up with tears.

"I had no clue what it was," Moss said. "I just saw things that was kind of odd to me ... I hate surprises, but they can surprise me like that a million times."

Moss was drafted 16th overall by the New York Jets in 2001 but will be remembered more for his career in Washington, which traded for Moss in exchange for Laveranues Coles in 2005. Moss spent the next 10 seasons with the Burgundy & Gold, recording three 1,000-yard seasons while averaging 14 yards per catch. He ended his Washington stint with 7,867 yards and 66 touchdowns, both of which rank in the top 10 for a receiver.

In his first season with the team, Moss had 84 receptions for 1,483 yards, which remains the best single-season performance for a receiver in franchise history.

"To be recognized for that work that I put in for my profession, man...it's one of the best feelings in the world," Moss said.

Moss credits his work ethic, which he said he learned from his parents, for his success. Like him, his parents worked hard for what they gained in life. They didn't have to tell their kids how to live, Moss said, because he and his siblings saw it from them every day. So, Moss took that same approach. If there was something he wanted to do, either in his professional or personal life, Moss would "go out there and go to work."

Although Moss only received one Pro Bowl and All-Pro selection in his career, those who watched him appreciated that approach.

"I was always a big fan of 'Tana," Mitchell said. "As I watched him play, and I hung out with him, I see why, because the dude is always about his business."

Moss said what he did during his career is well-documented. "It's in the books," he said, and people can go back to the film if they have a question about his accomplishments. Now, he has one more thing to point to as a sign of how he made his mark on the franchise.

"To actually be able to say, 'Look,' to my family, to my friends, to my peers, it's gonna be big," Moss said.

'HE'S VERY SMART'

DEEBO SAMUEL IMPRESSED WITH JAYDEN DANIELS

BY ZACH SELBY

There's plenty for wide receiver Deebo Samuel to get acclimated to now that he's officially in uniform for the Washington Commanders, from learning his role in the offense to building chemistry with his new teammates.

It's only been about a month since the start of the offseason workout program, but both things are going well for Samuel, particularly when it comes to establishing a rapport with quarterback Jayden Daniels.

The Commanders gave up a fifth-round pick to acquire Samuel in February, and the hope is that he will add another dimension to the offense and provide Daniels with a big target who can make plays after the catch. It's going to take some time for that connection to develop and may not fully bloom until after the season begins in September, but Samuel is already impressed with the second-year signal-caller.

"I feel like the man's been here forever," Samuel said. "He's comfortable; he knows what's going on; he knows where the ball needs to go. I just think he's very smart."

Daniels has already gained a strong reputation around the league after putting up what some consider to be the best rookie season in NFL history. He put up more than 5,000 yards in the regular and postseason combined, led the Commanders to their first conference championship since 1991, was named the Offensive Rookie of the Year and finished seventh in MVP voting. As a result, Washington fans and the league have high expectations for Daniels' second season, hoping he can repeat his success from 2024 and perhaps even surpass it.

The Commanders' acquisition of Samuel from the San Francisco 49ers was one of the team's first moves to help him accomplish that. Samuel was a versatile weapon for the 49ers since he was drafted in 2019, amassing nearly 6,000 scrimmage yards and 42 touchdowns. His best skill set is what he can do with the ball in his hands; although his depth of target is only 6.4 yards, he has 3,594 yards after contact, which represents 61% of his total production.

"I was always so impressed with how [San Francisco 49ers Head Coach] Kyle [Shanahan] utilized him and did different things with him, and he's a football player through and through," Commanders offensive coordinator Kliff Kingsbury said of Samuel. "Even being out here at OTAs... he's got a natural feel for things."

It seems like a perfect partnership for Daniels, who excels at ball placement and puts his weapons in the best position to succeed. He and Samuel are still developing their chemistry, although there were flashes of what it could be during Washington's OTA practice on May 28. Samuel used his 215-pound frame to get in front of a defender and turned a slant route into a decent gain.

Daniels said he was "obviously" excited to work with Samuel during the upcoming season. They will keep working on their on-field chemistry throughout the offseason, but don't expect Daniels to reveal too much about that process.

"I think that's a conversation between me and him," Daniels said. "Can't really give out too many secrets. Just how I see different coverages, stuff like that."

Still, it didn't take long for Samuel to confirm that Daniels was the same player he thought he saw while watching the Commanders go on their playoff run. He was impressed with Daniels' calm demeanor -- a common praise for Daniels from his teammates last season -- and how he raised his level of play against the league's top-tier teams. Of the 14 quarterbacks who played a snap during the 2024 postseason, Daniels led the group in passing yards, tied for first with Patrick Mahomes and Jalen Hurts in passing touchdowns and had the best QBR.

"The moment's not too big for him," Samuel said. "I just think he's a great player."

The Commanders wanted to give Daniels another option to create explosive plays. They think they got that in Samuel, and although it might take time for them to fine-tune their connection, the potential reward is worth being patient.

"Just the myriad of ways you can use him," Kingsbury said. "The touches you can get, he's hard to tackle ... And so just finding ways that he can continue to impact our offense and still get those other guys the football."

TUNSIL READY TO MAKE HUGE IMPACT FOR COMMANDERS

BY ZACH SELBY

Laremy Tunsil has a new quarterback to protect, and he couldn't be more thrilled about it.

"I damn sure can't wait to block for Jayden Daniels," Tunsil said during his Zoom press conference with reporters. "He's a baller."

The Commanders entered the offseason with the goal of finding a player who can protect Daniels as he tries to improve upon his record-setting rookie campaign and lead their offense for the foreseeable future. Rather than spend money on a player with less experience and more upside, they chose to send a package of draft picks to the Houston Texans for Tunsil, a five-time Pro Bowler and widely considered one of the best left tackles in the sport.

It was a steep price -- a 2025 third-round pick, 2025 seventh-round pick, 2026 second-round pick and 2026 fourth-round pick -- but they felt that fortifying one of the most important positions on the field was worth it. Tunsil is looking to prove them right by keeping Daniels safe.

"In my opinion, they traded for me for that reason, just to make a huge impact on the team," Tunsil said. "I'm down to do whatever they want me to do, especially at Year 10. If they need me to play quarterback and back up Jayden Daniels, then I can do that -- running back, whatever."

The Commanders would probably want Tunsil to stick to the offensive line, where he's been one of the best at keeping quarterbacks upright. He's allowed the fifth-lowest pressure rate among left tackles since 2022 and has a strong track record against players like Myles Garrett (his 2.5% pressure rate against Tunsil is the lowest in the NFL, per NextGenStats).

Tunsil was charged with protecting Houston Texans quarterback C.J. Stroud during his rookie season in 2023. Stroud had a similar trajectory as Daniels, winning the Offensive Rookie of the Year award for giving the Texans a 10-7 record and advancing to the Divisional round of the playoffs. Tunsil did his job well with Stroud in the backfield, allowing just 20 pressures on 556 pass-blocking plays while earning an 85.4 grade from Pro Football Focus.

This time, however, Tunsil will be tasked with helping elevate what was already a successful offense in 2024. The Commanders finished with the seventh-ranked offense that averaged 28.5 points per game. Much of that success came from Daniels, who set several team and franchise rookie records with 4,459 total yards and 31 touchdowns. Daniels' biggest problem was that he was sacked too often, as he was taken down 47 times.

Tunsil intends to change that, and he sees similarities between Daniels and Stroud.

"Composed, just to be so young -- him and C.J. have that same trait. They're very composed, especially in tough situations," Tunsil said.

As good as Daniels was in difficult moments, the goal is to keep him out of them as often as possible. Daniels had a 74.8 completion rate when in a clean pocket last year with the eighth-best offensive grade among quarterbacks.

"It seems like he's a better dude, too, just hearing from a lot of people just around the locker room and his teammates at LSU. I know a couple of guys," Tunsil said. "So, I can't wait. He'll make my job hella easy."

Even with Washington's issues with protecting Daniels last season, the Commanders' success was one of the biggest stories of the year. General manager Adam Peters and head coach Dan Quinn infused the roster with a mixture of talented veterans and youth to turn a team that finished 4-13 in 2023 to one that had a 12-5 record in 2024 and was one game away from a Super Bowl appearance.

GingerBeer2 on Archive.org

That got Tunsil's attention.

"Just watching this team on film last year, a tremendous team, top to bottom, special teams, defense, offense," Tunsil said. "I think [Peters and Quinn] put a great team together and just added a few more pieces, added myself. It's only going to make it better."

And while he hasn't been with the Commanders for long, he has a good idea of where the team is headed next.

"And the energy in that building is off the charts, honestly," Tunsil said. "Everybody's happy. Everybody's energetic. Everybody's looking to win. That's the feeling I got from meeting them, and that's something that I'm glad to be a part of."

'I WANT TO BE ON THE RIGHT SIDE OF CHANGE'

BOBBY WAGNER BECOMES FIRST ACTIVE NFL PLAYER TO HAVE EQUITY IN WNBA TEAM

BY HANNAH LICHTENSTEIN

On the first day of training camp, linebacker Bobby Wagner has already added another accolade to his lengthy resume. This one, however, isn't football related.

"I'm a minority owner of the [WNBA's Seattle] Storm," Wagner said in his post-practice press conference. "I'm really excited to be part of the 'W' and the WNBA. I think it's a great time. I'm really excited to be a part of the growth and to stay connected to a community that I still love."

As attendance and viewership numbers have continued to tick up across the WNBA, Wagner, an ever-developing businessman set to earn his MBA from Howard this winter, seems to have identified a special opportunity.

With the announcement, the future Hall of Famer becomes the first active NFL player to have equity in a WNBA team. "Bobby is a hometown hero who has had immeasurable impact on the Seattle community," said Seattle Storm Co-Owner Lisa Brummel in a statement released by the team. "He shares our desire to grow the game and knows the value and importance of investing in women's sports. As we continue to build on the incredible legacy of the Storm franchise, we are excited to add Bobby's experience and expertise to the mix."

Conversations around becoming part of the Storm ownership group began several months ago, but the Super Bowl champion's interest in and admiration of the team goes back years.

"I watched them from afar playing in Seattle," Wagner said. "Obviously, what they were doing on the basketball court but the most impressive stuff for me was what they were doing off the court. All the initiative, all of the help. Anything in the community I would say they were the first to do it. I don't know if we said it enough, but they inspired our organization [the Seattle Seahawks] a lot, and so I'm really excited to be a part of an organization that has been inspiring me for a long time."

While his Storm ownership might be the most widely publicized move, the future Hall of Famer has also invested in women entrepreneurs and women-led funds that focus on sports and tech. In any business decision, insights from those with specific experience and wisdom can be helpful. When it came to joining the Storm ownership group, Wagner had a great resource in his corner: Magic Johnson, a part-owner of the WNBA's Los Angeles Sparks.

"He's been a really big mentor of mine," Wagner said. "He's helped out so much, so he's definitely a guy I ran this idea across before I made the decision, and you know, he was a huge help because he's obviously done it, he's done it at a high level."

The nudge to invest in women's sports in this particular way also came from another place, which Wagner made sure to add at the end of his Day 1 press conference.

"Kobe [Bryant] was a really big part of me doing that," Wagner said. "I watched what Kobe was doing for women's basketball and for the WNBA. Me being a fan and me being somebody that watched him and watched some of the business moves that he made, this was something that was important to me because it's almost like trying to pick up where he left off. Obviously, I'm not him whatsoever but, you know, I could do my part."

Like Bryant, Wagner has taken the personal and made it a catalyst for something larger that can impact millions.

"I think women's sports is amazing. I have daughters. I have sisters. And it's important to really be a part of change, and I want to be on the right side of change so you know Kobe's legacy is something that I take a lot of pride in...him being somebody that I looked up to, it's only right for me to try to do my part and continue that legacy."

Perched on the fall line of the Coastal Plain, the City of Emporia has historically been a commercial hub in Southside Virginia.

With an estimated population of 5,700, the City of Emporia is the southern gateway to Virginia. Our major employers include Steel Fab, Georgia Pacific, Bon Secours Hospital, and Home of Rosie's Gaming Emporium. The City of Emporia is a tourist's dream with many lodging accommodations and a variety of dining options.

Just 8 miles from the North Carolina line, it is the first municipality on I-95 heading into Virginia. Emporia is a one-hour drive (65 miles) from the Capital City of Richmond, a three-hour drive (180 miles) from the Nation's Capital, Washington, D.C., and strategically "mid-way between the Big Apple and Disney World." Between Highway I-95 and State Route 58, our city sees an average of 60,000 vehicles daily with a daytime population of over 12,000.

ENTERTAINMENT TEAM

GENIENNE SAMUELS

IN-GAME HOST

Hey Commanders Fans! I am thrilled to be your In-Game Host for another season, cheering on our favorite NFL team with the BEST fans in the NFL!

I'm no stranger to the Burgundy & Gold. I first stepped foot in FedExField as a Redskinette and then Redskins Cheerleader, for eight amazing seasons. As a cheerleader, I was a Head Captain for four years, Co-Captain for two years, and had the honor to represent the team at the 2004 Pro Bowl game in Honolulu, Hawaii.

After retiring from the NFL, I become a Wizard Girl for the NBA's Washington Wizards for three seasons. In the middle of my third season, I took on the role as the In-Arena Host for the Wizards and WNBA's Washington Mystics for four years. I was also the In Game Host for the AFL's Baltimore Brigade and In-Match Host for the NWSL's Washington Spirit.

But I finally made it back home to FedExField in 2019 as the In-Game Host for the Burgundy & Gold!

In addition to sports hosting, I have been in the entertainment and broadcasting industry for over two decades, and it is an honor to now be the prime-time evening anchor of WTVR CBS in Richmond, VA, my hometown.

Before moving back home, I was a freelance anchor, reporter and producer for Prince George's County CTV-News. I have also hosted other shows such as "SchoolScene" in Fairfax and Montgomery Counties and "The Sound" of Washington DC. I was also the host of "Operation Rising Star", the United States Army Morale, Welfare and Recreation's annual singing competition for service members and their families for 10 years.

I founded two businesses. Sideline Prep provides individual counseling to young women and men auditioning for professional dance and cheerleading teams. I'm also the owner and lead consultant for GS Consulting & Communications, Inc., which is a BPR (Business Process Reengineering), quality and process improvement company.

And as if that isn't enough, I'm Aunt Nienne to three nieces, two nephews, and seven godchildren.

I would love to connect. Be sure to say Hi or "Hail Yeah" at a Commanders event or on gameday, and please connect with me at GeNienneSamuels on Facebook, X @GeNienneWithaG, or GeNienneWithaG on Instagram.

MARK FRATTO

PUBLIC ADDRESS ANNOUNCER

Mark Fratto has been a live sports announcer for 20 years with more than 3,000 live events, sports promos and commercial spots under his belt.

Fratto's experience behind the microphone includes serving as a public address announcer at Capital One Arena for the Washington Wizards, at Madison Square Garden for New York Knicks, college basketball and New York Liberty games, at Yankee Stadium for New York City FC Major League Soccer contests, at Pocono Raceway for NASCAR, at MetLife Stadium in the 2018 preseason for the New York Football Giants, at the Westchester County Center for Westchester Knicks NBA Development League games, at MCU Park in Coney Island for Brooklyn Cyclones Baseball and Brooklyn Bolts Football, at Rutgers University for Sky Blue FC women's professional soccer, and as the announcer for a variety of NCAA Division I intercollegiate contests at the University of Maryland, St. John's University and for a number of other colleges, universities and professional teams.

In 2019, Fratto began announcing Army Football at Michie Stadium and served as the announcer for the historic 2020 Army-Navy game. Fratto has been one of the voices of the popular NBA2K video game for the past three editions.

Fratto was a NCAA National Champion as part of Maryland Basketball's back-to-back Final Four runs in 2001 and 2002, and he served as the lead communications director during the Terrapins' 2004 ACC Title Season. As an announcer, Fratto has a 2021 MLS Championship ring with New York City FC and a 2019 New York-Penn League title with the Brooklyn Cyclones. Fratto was tabbed by the National Basketball Association to announce the 2015 NBA Development League All-Star game, slam dunk contest and 3-point shootout, as well as the FDNY-NYPD-NBA Legends charity game at Barclays Center as part of NBA All-Star Weekend in New York City. He returned to his 13th NCAA Final Four in Houston in April 2023, where he again served as news conference moderator.

Fratto was cast as the MMA main event announcer in the Halle Berry movie "Bruised" and has served as ring announcer for boxing events at Madison Square Garden; The Hard Rock, the Monte Carlo and Thomas and Mack Center in Las Vegas; Boardwalk Hall, the Ocean Resort and the Showboat in Atlantic City; Encore Boston Harbor, House of Blues Boston and MGM Springfield, Mass.; Mohegan Sun and Foxwoods in New England; MGM National Harbor, the Washington D.C. Armory and the ESA in Our Nation's Capital; Turning Stone Resort in Verona, N.Y.; Fantasy Springs Resort and the Pechanga Resort and Casino in Southern Cal; New York City's Hammerstein Ballroom, Webster Hall, B.B. King's Blues Club and Grill and SONY Hall; the 2300 Arena, the Met and Sugar House Casino in Philadelphia; and Wild Horse Pass Casino in Chandler, Arizona, among others.

He has announced for Golden Boy Promotions, Matchroom Boxing, Mayweather Promotions, DiBella Entertainment, K2 Promotions, GGG Promotions, Roy Jones Jr. Promotions, Evander Holyfield's Real Deal Promotions, King's Promotions, Joe DeGuardia's Star Boxing, Murphy's Boxing, Salita Promotions, Hard-Hitting Promotions, Hitz Boxing, Rising Star Promotions, Uprising Promotions, Petra Nemcova's Happy Hearts Fund, the NYPD and FDNY and has called fights on HBO, HBO PPV, Showtime, HBO Latino, ESPN, ESPN2, ESPN Deportes, CBS Sports Network, MSG Network, Facebook and Ring TV.

He has been behind the mic for cards and events featuring Roy Jones Jr., Saul "Canelo" Alvarez, Bernard Hopkins, Gennady "GGG" Golovkin, Miguel Cotto, Gervonta Davis, Ryan Garcia, Michael Buffer, Jimmy Lennon Jr., "The Miracle Man" Daniel Jacobs, Jaime Munguia, Luis "King Kong" Ortiz and Amir "King" Khan, just to name a few.

Fratto – who was a collegiate athletics administrator in the communications departments of St. John's University and the University of Maryland for 15 years from 1999 to 2014 – founded Linacre Media, a full-service digital/social media, production services and public relations consulting firm, in the Fall of 2014. Linacre Media is an official broadcast partner of the NBA and serves as the primary production partner for the Westchester Knicks of the NBA G League, in addition to packaging numerous other pro/college/high school athletics events for platforms like ESPNU, CBS Sports Network, the Madison Square Garden Network, Comcast Sports Networks, Facebook and Facebook FIGHTNIGHT LIVE, ESPN+, ESPN3 and the Campus Insiders Network/Stadium. Linacre Media has produced events for the NBA, the BIG EAST Conference, Nike, Jordan Brand, Army, Navy, the American Athletic Conference, the Atlantic 10 Conference, the Ivy League, the Patriot League, the Northeast Conference, the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference, professional boxing and MMA promoters, the ABA, the FXFL, St. John's University and the CUNYAC.

Fratto lives in Edgewater, MD, with his wife Kristin and their sons, Jackson (5) and Mason (2).
